The May 8th forum at 6pm will provide an opportunity to report back on climate vulnerabilities identified by participants from our first meeting on February 27th, 2013. The team will go over climate data specific to the region and comment on resiliency goals. There will also be a discussion about potential climate impacts that can influence long range transportation planning in the region, including; safety, state of good repair and environmental sustainability.

This event is free and open to the public! Light refreshments will be served. To RSVP (optional) or learn more, email kmartin@swmpc.org or call 269-925-1137 x 21. Or visit us online at: www.swmpc.org/climatechange.asp

The Southwest Michigan Planning Commission, Michigan State University Extensions, University of Michigan GLISA, Two Rivers Coalition and Michigan Works! will be hosting this event.
